Country Fair Fun

Mother's Day-off will be June 9 at the Junior League Country Fair, set for Kingston's Forsyth Park from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Bring the children at 11 for the bike parade led by the Amerscot Highland Band. There'll be prizes for best decorated bicycle and tricycle and all entries will win a free game coupon. Boys and girls will also find games galore . . . they can aim at their contemporaries with sponges; shoot ping pong balls with a water gun, win a goldfish in a bowl; play hole-in-one golf and much more, including puppets.

While the kids are busy winning prizes Mom can pick up a gourmet meal, frozen . . . and ready to cook that evening. Delicious homemade bread, pies and cakes will be available, too. Sizzling hot dogs and hamburgers, penny candy, ice cream, cotton candy, soda and beer will be ready for lunch and snacking.

Pony rides will provide excitement for the young and a new feature this year will be "learn-a-craft" for those anxious to learn a new skill.

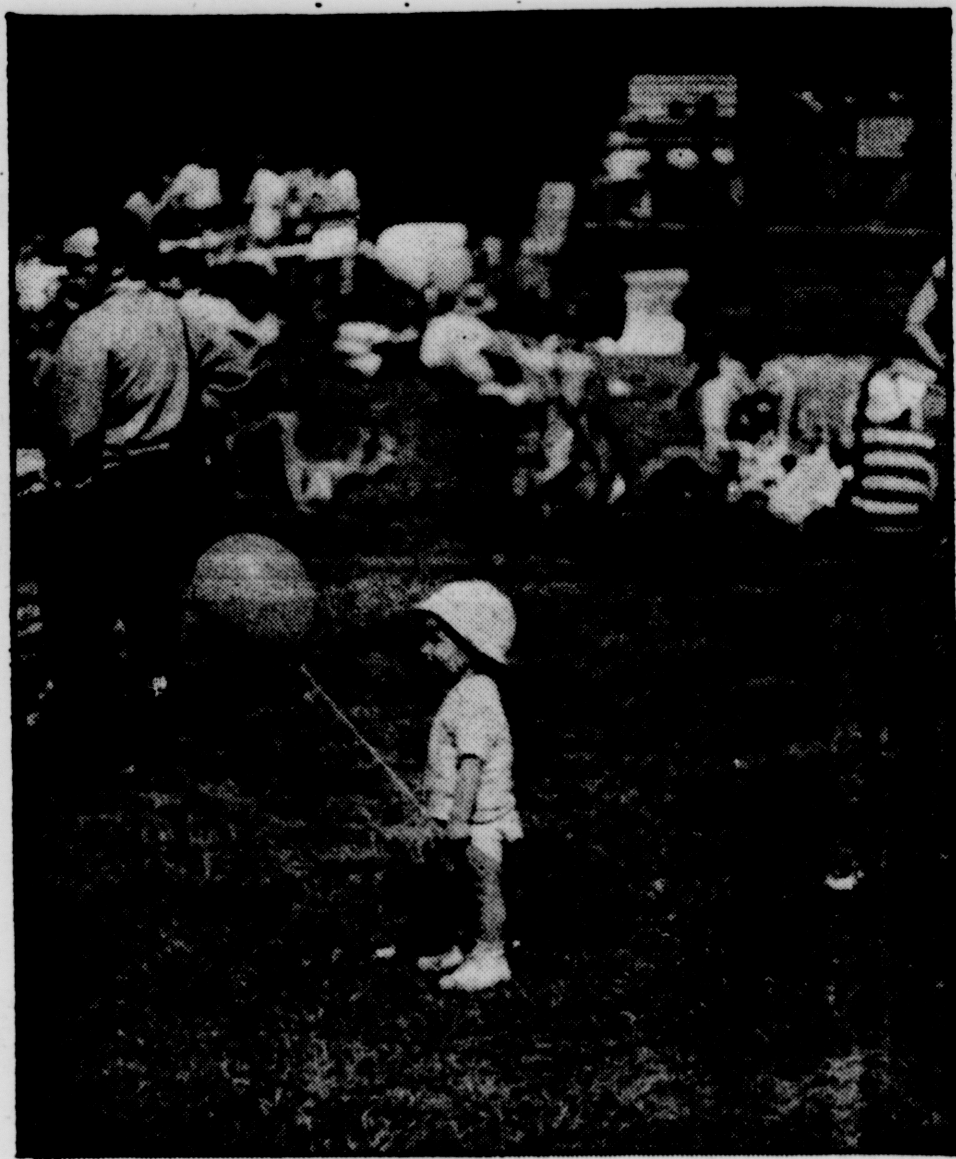

A green thumb is not needed to purchase one of the many young plants which have been nurtured through the spring and are ready to pop into your gardens. Indoor varieties will also be featured.

Interesting books, too, have been collected for the Fair, along with new and almost new articles of every kind, all bargain-priced.

Music will be provided by the "Southern Comfort". Before the fair ends, some lucky fair-goer will be awarded either a 19 inch black and white T.V., a five-speed bike or one of two transistor radios.

Proceeds from this event will benefit the Community Fund of the Junior League through which the League has, among many other services, initiated Ulster County Homemaker Service, Children's Theatre Series, Kingston Children's Library, and Heritage Slide Series.

Rain date for the Country Fair will be Sunday, June 10.

Balloons, penny candy, ice cream, soda pop, cotton candy — the stuff of which paradise is made for any tiny tyke

The wet sponge treatment gets as many laughs as those pie-throwing sprees in the old silent movies.

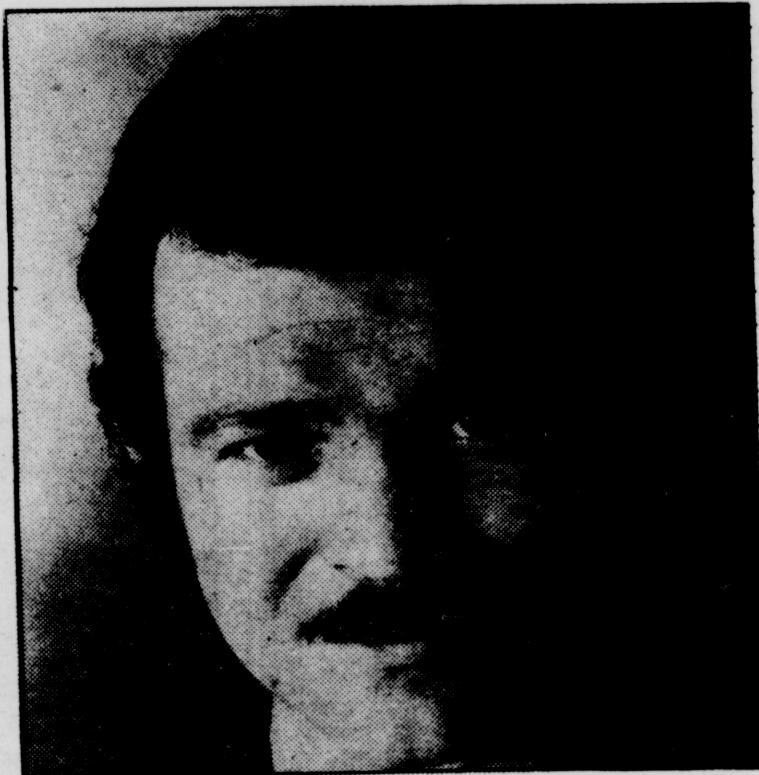

Hole-in-one golf — good practice for a future Lee Trevino.

Pony rides — thrills for the brave; chills for the not-so-brave.

Anni Long faces the agony of personal choice as Joan in George Bernard Shaw's SAINT JOAN, one of six plays being readied for the National Shakespeare Company's opening season at Woodstock.

MARTY BRINTON will appear with the Shakespeare Company at Woodstock Playhouse this summer as Petruchio in KISS ME KATE, that ever-popular and highly sophisticated musical by Cole Porter.

A Unique Summer Of 'Rolling Rep'

The National Shakespeare Company, in its opening season in Ulster County, promises to bring to the Woodstock Playhouse a new adventure in summer entertainment. After a full decade of successfully producing in theatres throughout the U.S., NSC will present "A Summer with Shakespeare and Friends" on the art colony stage. And the season, as announced, certainly offers theatregoers a variation on a theme — Shakespeare in prose and music.

The summer's repertoire will present six productions in "Rolling Rep," with a different show every night. Taking to the boards will be:

AS YOU LIKE IT—the play filled with The Bard's gaiety and humor of a quality of wit that has not staled with the centuries.

KISS ME KATE—the sophisticated musical adaptation of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," featuring such superb Cole Porter numbers as "Another Op'nin'. Another Show," "We Open in Venice," and "Brush Up Your Shakespeare."

YOUR OWN THING—the acclaimed rock version of "Twelfth Night," in a funny, charming story that begins with a shipwreck, turns into a case of mistaken identity, resolves in an all's well that ends well ending.

SAINT JOAN—George Bernard Shaw's religious fervor and comic irony combined in his finest work—a classic interpretation of the agony of personal choice.

THE BOYS FROM SYRACUSE—Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical tale based on the comic mismatches and identity entanglements of The Bard's "Comedy of Errors," and featuring such long time favorite songs as "Falling in Love with Love" and "This Can't Be Love."

JULIUS CAESAR—Shakespeare's exploration of the drama of power politics and personal conscience.

Among the actors who have just joined the NSC at Woodstock for the season:

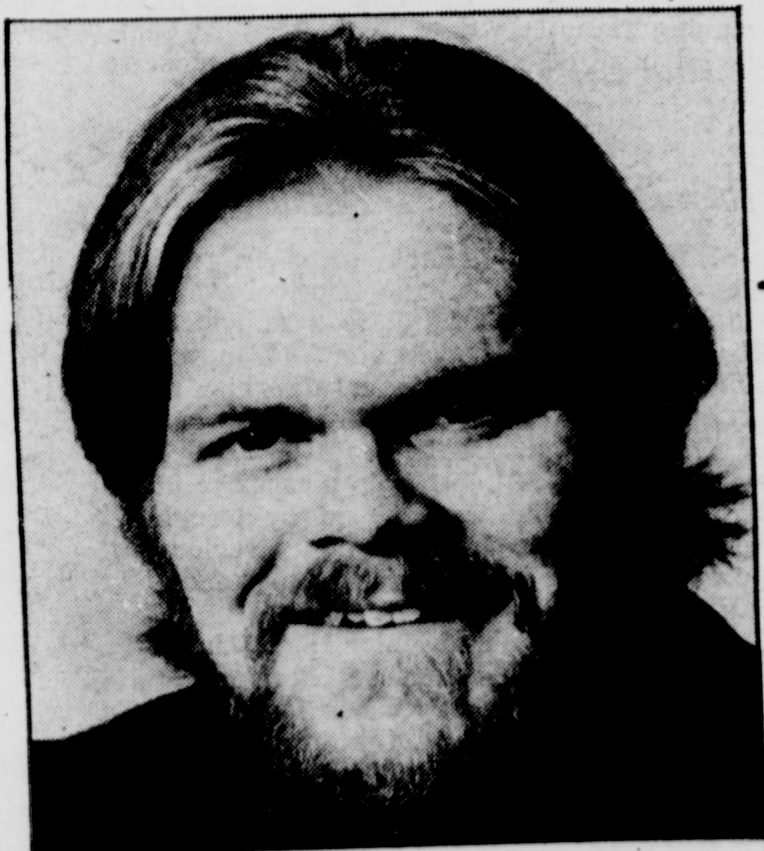

Tim Wallace, who performed at the Festival of American Theatre in 1971 and 1972, and who will appear in the role of Caesar in "Julius Caesar."

Jan Parker, a veteran of Lakewood Musical Playhouse and the eastern circuit concert stage, who'll perform the role of Kate in "Kiss Me Kate."

Marty Brinton, who has taken leading roles with the Salt Lake City Light Opera, and will sing the part of Petruchio in "Kiss Me Kate."

Anni Long, straight from performances with the American Conservatory Theatre in San Francisco and California's Marin Shakespeare Festival, who comes east for the role of Joan in "Saint Joan."

The season opens Friday, June 29, with "As You Like It," followed on Saturday, June 30 with "Kiss Me Kate," with both these shows alternating each night from July 1 through July 8.

Tim C. Wallace will portray Caesar in JULIUS CAESAR, Shakespeare's exploration of the drama of power politics and personal conscience. The play is on the bill of fare at Woodstock Playhouse this summer.

Jan Parker will join the Shakespeare Company at Woodstock as Kate in KISS ME KATE. The musical, adapted from Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," will be staged 11 times during June and July.

Out of the past antique hand pumpers will be among the attractions at the 4th Annual Fairchester Fire Apparatus Show and Muster — well worth a drive to Valhalla on June 23.

Antique Fire Engine Muster

The 4th Annual Fairchester Antique Fire Apparatus Show and Muster will take place on Saturday, June 23 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at Kensico Dam Plaza, Valhalla, New York. All types of vintage (pre-1950) fire apparatus may participate, but in order to compete for the more than 50 trophies that will be awarded, owners must register their rigs by May 31 with the Fairchester Hose Haulers Association, the group that coordinates the yearly show.

The Muster, which began in 1971 as a local event, has drawn substantially larger crowds each successive year. Last year 100 rigs were registered and spectators came in chartered buses and car pools from as far away as Boston, Baltimore and Chicago. As a result of this wide spread interest, the club has made a special effort this year to alert fire buffs across the country.

The Muster is a unique family entertainment with many different events to appeal to young and old fire buffs alike. The day's program will begin with a "moving apparatus" parade in Valhalla. The music for this event will be provided by the award-winning Thornwood Lancers, the official band of the Thornwood Fire Department.

Throughout the day special demonstrations will take place. Highlights will include a bucket brigade demonstration by the Phoenix Hose Company from Tarrytown, and a demonstration of a response to an alarm (putting out a fire).

There will also be judged events. Over 125 rigs are expected to compete for recognition in such categories as: longest distance traveled under own power (last year's winner drove 12 hours through a driving rain storm in a 1939 Ford/Howe pumper), best appearing horse drawn apparatus, best restored apparatus, and best restored hand drawn apparatus.

The Muster will be sponsored this year by Ward LaFrance, the Elmira Heights based fire engine manufacturer, and will be presented in cooperation with the Westchester County Department of Parks, Recreation and Conservation. Admission is free.

Individuals and fire departments interested in registering for the Muster should contact Muster Chairman Gil Stanley at 64 Pinewood Gardens, Hartsdale, N.Y. 10530 or call 212-PL2-6210 weekdays and 914-WH9-0861 after 6 p.m. and on weekends.

She's the Star of 'Ms. Mame'

Kelly Meddaugh, Hyde Park teenager, will portray the leading role in the musical "Ms. Mame," to be presented today, June 3 at Poughkeepsie High School as a benefit for Mid-Hudson Regional Ballet Company. Kelly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Meddaugh, Garden Street, Hyde Park. She has studied ballet, tap, jazz, voice and drama at Estelle & Alfonso's; is a member of their T.V. Dancers. Kelly was tapped by Joseph Towers, dramatic coach, because this vivacious role requires an actress who can also handle herself in a singer-dancer capacity.

Kelly, who attends Haviland Junior High School, is a member of Estelle & Alfonso's Performers' Club and has entertained many times locally for various civic and charity groups. Last summer she performed for a week at the Dutchess County Grandstand Show, which later appeared at New York City's Lincoln Center Amphitheatre. Kelly has also appeared in "Fiddler on the Roof," "Hello Dolly" and "Oliver."

"Ms. Mame" is a giant production with a cast of hundreds, is scheduled for a 2 p.m. matinee today, Sunday, June 3.

Southern Catskills Slating Major Arts - Crafts Exhibit

Area painters, sculptors and craftsmen are invited to participate in the first juried exhibition to be staged in the Southern Catskills, and sponsored by Catskill Art Society. The show, scheduled for July 12-15, will be held at Sullivan County Museum, Art and Cultural Center, Hurleyville, in the heart of the Catskills resort and vacation area.

Substantial cash awards and outstanding jurors are expected to draw leading painters and sculptors as well as practitioners of major crafts. For several years the Catskill Art Society has conducted fine shows, and the experience of the Society indicates that with the upgrading of awards, and higher calibre judging, this show will be a major event.

The exhibition gallery, located in a former school in the small community of Hurleyville, is an excellent showplace for all types of art, and the large numbers of vacationers present in the area in early July should make for interested and expert viewers from all walks of life.

Information relative to the July show may be obtained by writing: Catskill Art Society, P.O. Box N, Hurleyville, N.Y. 12747.

Each year more and more young people — as well as older people and family groups — are enjoying the pleasures of cruising the Barge Canal. This trio pauses for a soft drink before heading out again in their outboard-powered runabout for another afternoon of boating fun, and sun on the 148 years young canal.

Cruising the Barge Canal

She's a grand old lady . . . is the New York State Barge Canal . . . she's been around a long time . . . she's seen vast changes . . . and she's contributing more than ever to the economy of the Empire State and to the pleasure of us all.

We know from our history books how the opening of the old Erie Canal — first of the Barge Canal's system — carried settlers to the western prairies and the products they grew back to the East. We know that tugs have replaced mules for hauling the cargoes that still ply the canal system — some 2.5 million tons last year.

And a healthy percentage of us have used the canal for pleasure boating — the State Transportation Department reports that 84,000 passages by pleasure boats through the system's 57 locks were counted in 1972.

We note with approval that the State office of Parks and Recreation, in cooperation with the Transportation Department, is developing a series of public parks and trails along the canal, whose waters lap some of the most picturesque and historic areas of the State. These parks will add recreational facilities for many to enjoy.

But the canal system contributes much more than recreation and burden-bearing. The dams which were built to assure a constant water level in the system also act to control floods and provide communities with a safe, stable water supply. The surplus waters help the State's agriculture, as farmers in season take about 50 cubic feet of water a second for irrigation.

The system's many backwater pools and marshy areas aid the cause of fish and wildlife conservation, as they are ideally suited for the breeding and protection of many species. And, finally, the canal is a source of clean, hydroelectric power.

Few things 148 years old continue to contribute so much to the people of the Empire State. TEMPO salutes the Barge Canal for that reason — and for the personal pleasure we have found in cruising it.

Orchestra In Progress

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic's Orchestra in Progress will appear in concert on June 4 at Valley Central High School, and, June 7 at Saugerties High School. The HVP's training orchestra will be conducted by Luis Garcia-Renart. Both performances are to take place at 8 p.m.

The program will consist of Aaron Copeland's "Down a Country Lane," Dvorak's Symphony No. 4, Op. 88 in G major; Smetana's "The Moldau," which will be conducted by Kurt Grishman; and, Tchaikovsky's "March Slav," Op. 31. Admission for the concert is free.

Canal Problems

A tract of land now set aside for wildlife in upstate New York once stopped construction on the state's famous Erie Canal. When early nineteenth century engineers tried to extend the waterway through the Montezuma Swamp near Seneca Falls, they were plagued by malaria-carrying mosquitoes and had to halt the project until winter. The area, along with others, is listed in "New York State Vacationlands," issued by the State Department of Commerce, 112 State Street, Albany, New York 12207.

Family Picnic Area On the Coxing Kill

This summer The Mohonk Trust will operate a family picnic area on Clove Road, beside the Coxing Kill in the Town of Gardiner. Between now and Labor Day weekend the picnic area will be open daily from 10 a.m. until evening.

The Mohonk Trust, a non-profit foundation, is steward of 4600 acres of wildlands in the Shawangunk Mountains. The land is open to the public on a fee basis for activities compatible with conservation. The Coxing picnic area is a good starting point for hikes, nature walks, bird watching, and photography outings. A Ranger will be in attendance to answer questions and give trail information.

In keeping with the wilderness character of the land, there are no picnic tables or fireplaces. The forest can no longer sustain wood fires, but stoves may be used. Picnickers are asked to observe good wilderness manners by keeping refuse to a minimum and taking it home for proper disposal.

In previous years this same location was operated as a campground, known as Coxing Camp or Split Rock, but the traffic exceeded the natural carrying capacity of the land. Months of work have been devoted to restoring the land.

The land use fee of $1 per day for adults includes parking, picnicking, and hiking anywhere on Trustland. The revenue goes entirely to support the work of conservation and maintenance. For frequent visitors there are annual permits at a considerable savings. For further information call The Mohonk Trust at 255-0919.

The Coxing picnic area on Clove Road can be reached from the south from Highway 44-55 in Gardiner, and from the north from High Falls.

A Sculptor Of Poetry

On the banks of the Rondout, Philip Gurrieri's "The Magidical Alborac" sits for its portrait. Kingston artist Gurrieri is currently exhibiting in a special invitational show at West Nyack's Clarksville Corners Restoration Galleries. A sculptor of poetry, he reaches out into the galaxies, he says, "and brings forth images of the future that was before our past." Now associated with Mari Gallery II in Mamaroneck, he was awarded a one-man show last spring by the Woodstock Artists Association. Here in Kingston, he serves on the board of the local Narcotics Guidance Council; is wrapping up an exciting summer series of "with-it" music concerts and "rap" sessions with appeal for both the city's youth and their elders. If, by chance, you're in the West Nyack area between now and June 15, stop in at the Clarksville Galleries and see the intriguing Gurrieri works.

First Concert In Monday Series

Dave Van Ronk, who sings what critics call blues and what he calls just songs, will appear at the Woodstock Playhouse on June 15 at 8 p.m. His is the first in a series of music concerts to be offered on Monday nights when there is no National Shakespeare company performance during the regular Playhouse season — a series to include folk music, jazz and other popular music. With a number of albums to his credit, Van Ronk has a reputation for evoking powerful reactions from his audience. An artist who sings from his own innermost depths, he demands that his audience respond from the same. Anyone who has heard Van Ronk perform in concert — and many have recently at colleges across the U.S. — has been impressed with the naturalness and raw power he brings to his music. His is an ever-evolving repertoire. Tickets to the Van Ronk concert June 15 are $3 and $4.

The Romeros — known internationally as "The Royal Family of the Guitar," will perform for the first time at Woodstock's Maverick Concerts this summer in what promises to be one of the most distinguished events in the long-lived music center's history.

Clove
Valley's
Seventh

It's been seven years since Clove Valley Theatre first came to High Falls, and — this year — the theatre will celebrate that fact. A permanent home for the theatre is underway as part of the celebration, but is not expected to be ready for this season's plays.

What will be ready, due to public demand, will be repeat performances of Thornton Wilder's OUR TOWN, the play produced by Clove Valley four years ago in conjunction with the celebration of the 300th birthday of High Falls.

OUR TOWN will be staged this year on July 15, 16 and 17 as the opening production of the theatre. Many members of the original cast will be back to repeat their roles, including Jessie Williams and his grandson Johnny, of High Falls. In addition, however, the theatre is holding open auditions this Monday, June 4 at Camp Poison Ivy, High Falls, for all interested thespians.

Other plays on the season's schedule at Clove Valley: Jim Prideaux's "The Autograph Hound," originally staged off-Broadway; William Inge's "Picnic;" the longest-running musical of all time, "The Fantastics;" and "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams.

Producer Joe Runner notes that tomorrow night's readings and open auditions will be for parts in all plays listed.

Among the Last of the Pot-Bellied Stove Shops

Until recently, The Junke Shoppe had long been a landmark on the Woodstock scene. For many, it seemed somehow misnamed — since it harbored more in the way of authentic antiques than in the cast-off goods of an affluent society. And it harbored, too, in its owner — Louis Lewis — a master carpenter who often worked there at the careful restoration of things old and wooden.

For those who browsed through The Junke Shoppe over the years, the opportunity was offered to roll back the decades to a more leisurely and rural time. For it offered reminders of homespun — and pewter — and kerosene lamps.

Surrounded by antiques, museum pieces, and objects d'art from many parts of the world, the hand-stoked pot-bellied stove was always kept burning brightly by owner Lewis in winter weather, often with logs he had cut himself.

The Junke Shoppe had one of the finest collections of old lamps in the area. And had, too, a wealth of old farming tools, carriages, china and glass, wooden and tinware wonders — anything and everything that went into the building of America.

Perhaps he came from a splendid church in old Mexico — or from a magnificent palace in Spain. Whatever his origin — and despite his weathered wood and peeling paint — he intrigued and fascinated . . . as did almost everything housed in The Junke Shoppe. (All photos by Freeman photographer Robert R. Haines).

SARATOGA FESTIVAL SPECIAL EVENTS

Sha Na Na, the 12 young men responsible for the revival of Good Old Rock And Roll, return for a concert at Saratoga Performing Arts Center on Aug. 5 at 8 p.m. Last year, Sha Na Na drew the third largest special event crowd of 1972 at the Saratoga Festival.

Benny Goodman and his Original Quartet will appear at Saratoga on Saturday, Aug. 18 at 8 p.m. Which means that Teddy Wilson on piano, Gene Krupa on drums and Lionel Hampton on vibes will occupy the stage with "The King of Swing" for a program of jazz and classical music.

Don McLean, home grown right here in the Hudson Valley and universally acclaimed as one of the most talented composer-singers in pop music today, takes over the SPAC stage on Wednesday, Aug. 29 at 8 p.m.

Sonny and Cher, the dynamically talented husband and wife singing-comedy duo, return to SPAC on Tuesday, Aug. 28 for two performances. The most talked-about couple in show biz today will appear in concert at a 2 p.m. matinee and an 8 p.m. evening staging.

Liberace—he of the glittering costumes, candelabra and pianistic ability — has proved so popular at past Saratoga concerts that he's booked this summer for two stints. He'll perform Sunday, Aug. 12 at a 3 p.m. matinee and an 8 p.m. night show.

POTPOURRI

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

We're convinced TV writers're missin' the boat by not comin' to Kingston at least for a few days. Last week alone Kingstonians hatched more TV comedy plots — unconsciously, mind you — Than a sitcom producer would know what to do with. For example:

RHS lives with his sister and brother-in-law on Dietz Court. His brother Bud lives a few blocks away on Orchard Street. A letter for RHS arrived from out-of-state but was addressed in error to Bud's place. Decidin' to play Good Samaritan, Bud hiked up the hills early in the a.m. and, without wakin' the family, dropped his brother's letter in his sister's mailbox. (Still with us? Good!)

Next day the identical letter was re-delivered back to Brother Bud on Orchard Street. You guessed it! The early bird mailman picked up the letter, as any good conscientious mailman would, and delivered it AGAIN to the "correct" address.

Can you image what All in the Family writers would do with that! Why Archie Bunker would have a stroke.

And then, there's Jim Gilpatric. Jim's son Jim (he's NOT junior) just graduated from Siena College and is accepted at law school. Commencement was a red letter day 'cause it was also Dad's birthday.

However, there was one fly in the ointment. Besides cap 'n gown, young Jim's on crutches. How come? Well, on quizzin' his Pop, we got: "tripped on a crack in the tennis court."

To us it sounds just like an excerpt from Sanford and Son.

Ever been to an organic cosmetic party? We were, last week to be exact, at a private home in W. Hurley. Mrs. T. of Woodstock was there and turned out to be the life of the party.

For those who've never experienced a facial masque, the first time is frightening face hardens up like cement, can't talk or even smile without crackin' the whole works.

Seems by usin' raw egg whites, Mrs. T. got similar results at home even to the not-bein'-able-to-talk routine. Asked what her husband thought of it, she quoted him: "Here's a buck; go get another dozen."

Imagine what Maude would do to Walter after such a crack we mean besides "God'll get you for that"

Everybody knows it was a miserable, rainy May. A.W.'s been tryin' to get in a game of golf all month. And every night, it was the same story. Rained out!

One night he came home from work more exasperated than usual. His better-half remarked sympathetically: "Gee, you can't seem to get to first base." His smart alec brother-in-law quipped: "You mean 'first tee,' don't you?"

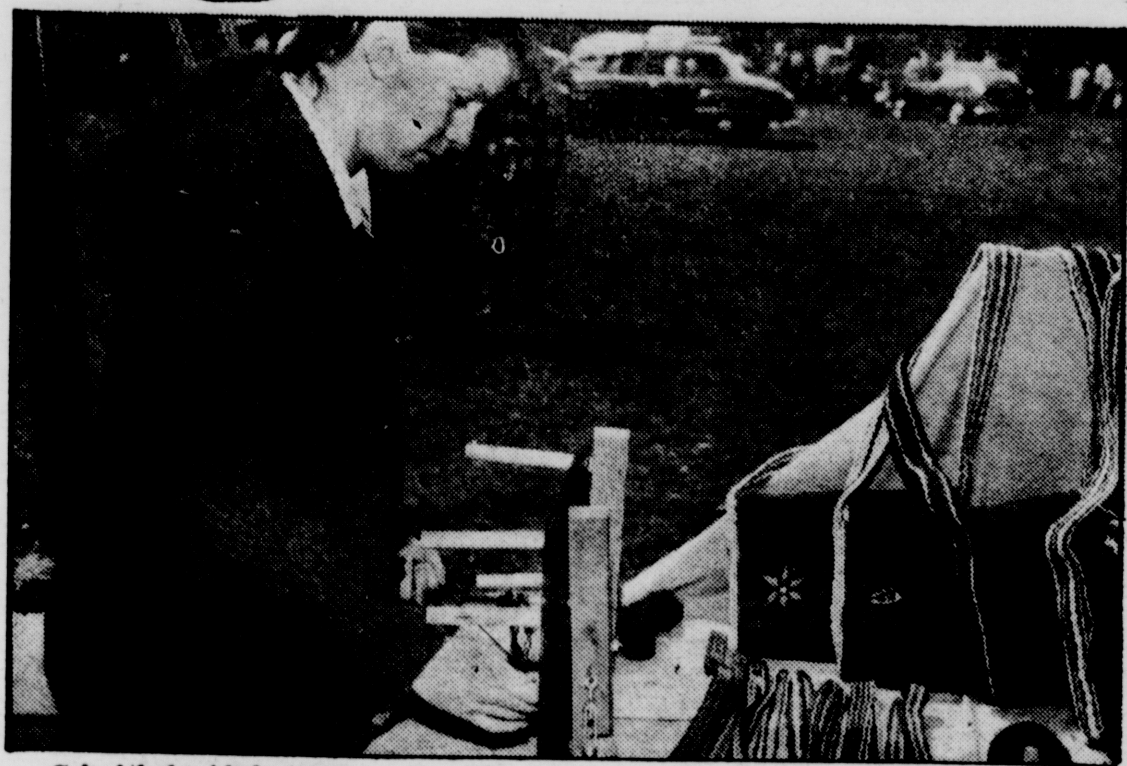

(A typical George Burns monologue, if we ever heard one.)

Have you noticed how great Old Dutch Church grounds look lately? There's a reason. Someone dreamed up the idea of numbering fence rails and assigning numbers to parish families along with the chore of keepin' up that section of grounds. (weedin', prunin', etc.)

Carolyn Seitz was on all fours in the churchyard last Saturday keepin' up her end of the bargain. Tho we think it's a mighty good idea, can you imagine how Lucille Ball could louse it up!

RESTAURANT GUIDE

Colorful, braided straps — as utilitarian as they are handsome. Long ones for shoulder-strap pocketbooks and belts; shorter ones for chokers, wristlets and headbands. Strong enough to hold your guitar around your neck; perfect for a dozen other uses — crafts such as this will be welcome at Town of Ulster Library Fair.

New Attractions at Ulster Fair

The Third Annual Outdoor Art and Craft Show of the Town of Ulster Library's Annual Fair will be held June 16, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the grounds adjoining the Library and Chambers School north of Kingston, on Morton Boulevard. Attracting artists from many areas, it is not too late to obtain an application, and Mrs. Marge Sainsbury of Halcyon Park, chairman of the Art Show, advises artists interested to send in theirs as soon as possible. A space 5 by 8 on snow fencing allows the artist to show his works in all medias. Craftsmen receive the same size space and can set their work up on tables they furnish. Space this year has increased, but the registration fee of $3 has remained the same.

Prizes of $50 for first; $30 for second will be awarded. If a large enough group takes part, a third prize of $20 will be offered. These will be given in professional, amateur, and crafts and arts sections. To encourage younger artists and craftsmen, there's an "under 16" group with cash prizes also. Set up time will be from 8 a.m.; awards presented at 4 p.m. Contact Mrs. Sainsbury at 382-2103 for details. Craftsmen may also rent booth space for selling hand made items, and should contact Mrs. Marion Burger, 331-0233.

Many new attractions have been added to this year's fair. Antique dealers from various areas are taking part; train and pony rides for children as well as various fair-type concessions will be featured. Booths of individuals as well as organizations, for which there is still room for more, will offer many items, from plants, jewelry, and ceramics, to wooden items and sewing handicrafts — to enable every one to find something to their liking and make this year's fair bigger and better than ever.

New York City Ballet opens its summer residence at Saratoga Performing Arts Center on Tuesday, July 3 with a new ballet choreographed by George Balanchine, "Duo Concertant" and "Stars and Stripes," in which Melissa Hayden and Jacques d'Amboise cavort here.

PRINTMAKING STEP-BY-STEP

Artist-printmaker Barbara Neustadt, in a slide lecture for art students at Onteora High School recently, defined traditional graphic arts media and discussed differences between intaglio and planographic prints through color slides of lithographs, woodcuts, etchings and silk screen prints. Also on the program: a step-by-step illustrated talk on the creation of line etchings and aquatints, and a lively question-and-answer period on color etching and Ms. Neustadt's work. Her visit to OCS was part of an on-going series of artist visits to local schools under sponsorship of Woodstock Artists Association with funding by N.Y. State Council on the Arts. Printmaker Neustadt is a member of WAA; heads up her own Studio Graphic Workshop in Woodstock for the teaching of intaglio printmaking; has exhibited in frequent one-woman shows. She is represented in many museum and gallery collections.

A Study in Fascination

Rosendale Elementary School students in the art class of Mrs. Susan Koon field-tripped recently to Henry Summa's glass-blowing studio, "The Fire Works," on Mohonk Road, High Falls. And found themselves watching in fascination as Summa demonstrated the blowing of a vase.
(Bertha Goodman photos)

As Summa began to shape the vase into an object of beauty from a fiery lump of molten glass, trio of girls were spellbound in awe. Youngsters were also gifted with a vase by Summa to take back to their classroom. Visit was one of a series of student tours to artists' studios sponsored by Marletown Artists' Association.

Collaborating Couple

WOODSTOCK

Inside a house of rough lumber beside Hutchin Hill Road in Shady, a visitor can usually find the owners writing one book or another that has required laborious research before any words have been committed to paper.

The house in which they work was designed by home owners-authors Howard and Martha Lewis; blends in admirably with the rugged and beautiful terrain to which it clings on the high west slope of a mountain overlooking the Woodstock hamlets of Shady, Bearsville and beyond.

Their design collaboration on the house is only one facet of the teamwork of this couple. They have also collaborated on two books, and the unusual subject matter of these tomes has required painstaking research.

Controversial Subject

Their first joint effort was THE MEDICAL OFFENDERS, published by Simon and Schuster and delving at great length through recorded case histories and legal proceedings into medical malpractice. The book was necessarily controversial; brought the Lewis husband and wife team wide exposure on television and radio interview-talk shows.

Their second book is the recently published PSYCHOSOMATICS: How Your Emotions Can Damage Your Health, released by The Viking Press. After research done for this newest effort, they found that people suffering from certain diseases tend to have similar emotional conflicts.

Howard and Martha Lewis are fairly recent full-time residents of Woodstock; built their home in the art colony in 1969. Prior to that they had lived in Woodstock on a part time basis while Howard was teaching at Columbia University's School of Journalism in New York City. Wife Martha holds a Masters degree in Elizabethan studies from City University. Married in 1961, they are the parents of a young son and daughter.

In addition to the two books to Howard's credit in collaboration with Martha, he also co-authored GROWTH GAMES, a study of the human potential movement, in 1970 with a male colleague. Earlier, Lewis wrote WITH EVERY BREATH YOU TAKE, one of the first serious studies made of air pollution and published in 1965.

A Simple Puzzle

All three of the books bearing the Lewis name are now available at the Woodstock Library. The most recent, "Psychosomatics," in spite of its "heavy" title, is interesting and readable. For example, the authors came up with a simplified puzzle based on their voluminous research, in which the reader tries to match the character traits that most often go with particular illnesses.

Kingston — Then and Now

Guest demonstrator Bryson

A Popular Repeat

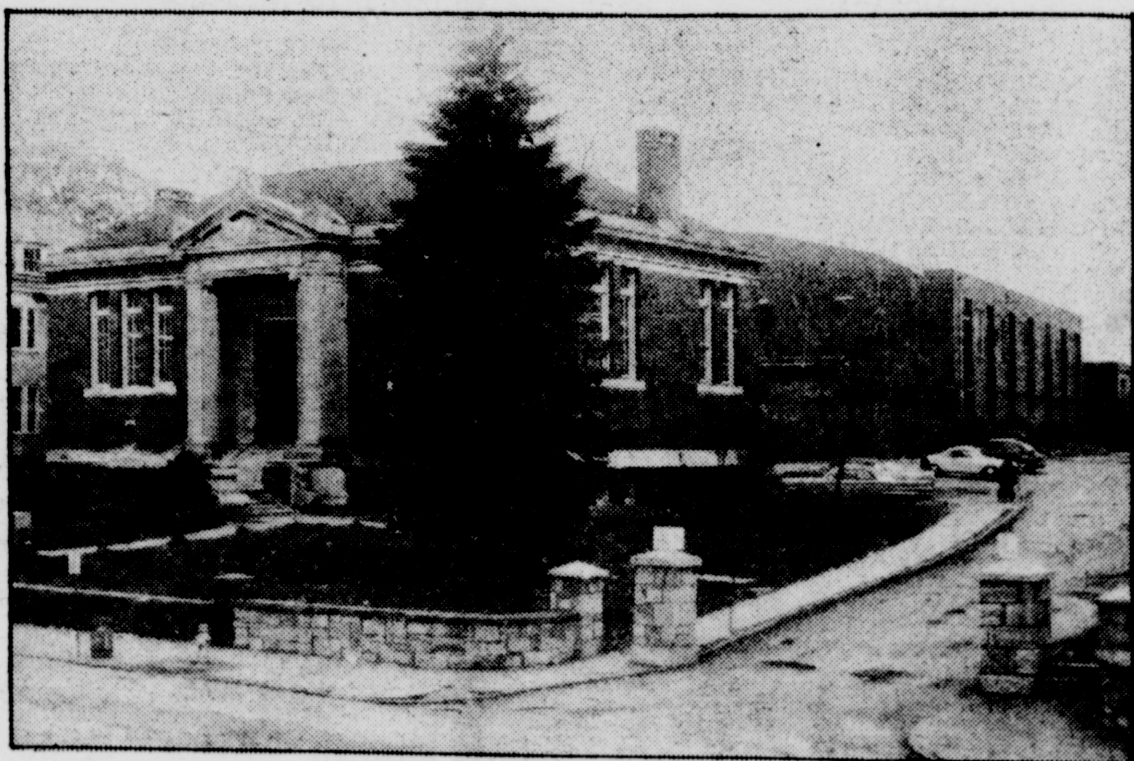

It's a rare occasion when a guest demonstrator is invited back for a repeat performance by the Ulster County Art Association. But that will be the case when High Woods illustrator-portrait painter Charles Bryson returns to UCAA for its Tuesday, June 5 session at Kingston's YWCA at 7:30 p.m. So popular was Bryson's last demonstration before the Association that his upcoming appearance is expected to be one of the highlights of the group's season.

Bryson's long and illustrious career in illustration and art began at 17 in the coal mines of Pennsylvania, where he did weekly drawings of accidents, stressing their causes and pointing up safety correction rules needed. At 18, he was honored with an award for these drawings from the Secretary of the Interior.

Since 1950, he has worked from his High Woods farm as a teacher, news photographer, and creator of water color portraits and landscapes. Bryson's creative drive and strong personal feelings about the rewards of his professional career always make him an interesting speaker — and his fine talents mark him as an excellent demonstrator. The combination provides the reason why UCAA members are enthusiastically looking forward to the June 5 meeting.

Once upon a yesteryear, locals called this proud new addition to Kingston town the Carnegie Library. In the beginning, it stood in solitary splendor at its site on Broadway. An occasional trolley clanged along the tracks in front, its back yard was woodsy and shaded, no adjacent buildings intruded on the scene, and the ever-present SILENCE sign was observed outside as well as indoors.

Now it is more familiarly known as Kingston City Library, the charitable munificence of Andrew Carnegie having dimmed over the years. No longer a lone surveyor of the scene, it is passed daily by a never-ending stream of automobiles along Broadway. The leafy greenery of yore to the rear has been replaced by the mammoth Kate Walton Fieldhouse, next door the Children's Library has taken over a once vacant lot, and the original shade trees on the front lawn have departed — replaced by a towering evergreen. Silence is still golden within, but the noise decible outdoors sometimes competes with the Dewey Decimal System cogitations inside.

June 14 Is the Birthday of Our Flag, the Stars and Stripes!

These girls will be flying their flag on Flag Day, if it's a pretty day. In good weather the flag is usually flown outdoors from sunrise to sunset. On special occasions it may be flown at night.

Thursday, June 14 marks the 196th birthday of the Stars and Stripes. This special day, called Flag Day, is celebrated in memory of June 14, 1777. This was the day that the Continental Congress picked a flag with 13 stripes and 13 stars as the national emblem of our country. Flag Day was first set as a national celebration in 1916.

Each star stood for one of the original 13 colonies. Can you name them?

They were: Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

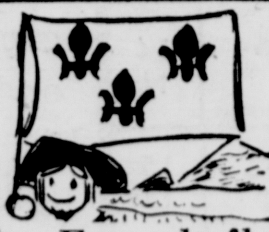

Flags of Importance in the History of Our Country.....

The Vikings carried a flag with a black raven on it.

Columbus flew a flag with two red lions and two yellow castles.

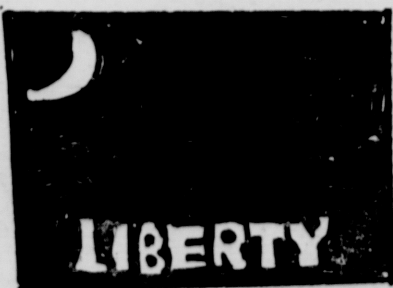

The French flag was carried by Samuel de Champlain when he explored in 1604.

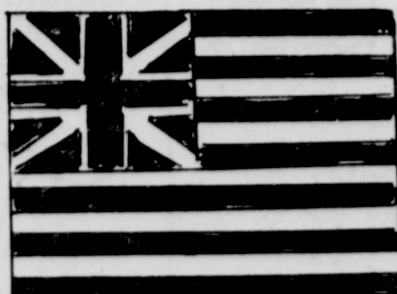

The British flag was the flag of the early colonists for over 100 years.

In 1818, Congress passed a law that the flag shall have only 13 stripes, with a new star added on the July 4th after a state joins the union. The last star was added in 1960, after Hawaii became a state.

During the Revolution, there were many colonial flags. This flag was flown by Colonel William Moultrie's men when they defended Charleston, S.C., in 1776.

The Grand Union Flag was raised by Washington at Cambridge, Mass., in 1776 and was the flag of the Continental Army.

The Stars and Stripes was adopted in 1777. There was no rule about how to arrange the stars.

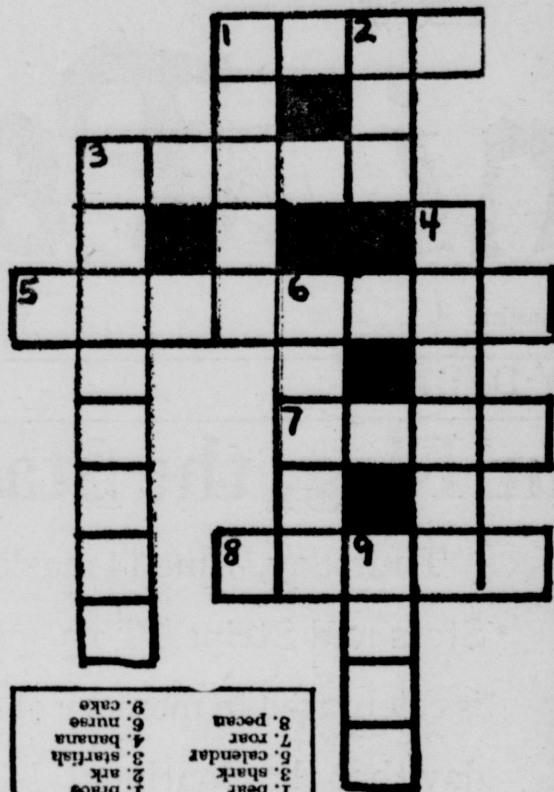

From 1795 to 1818, the flag had 15 stars. A flag like this inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Star Spangled Banner was the flag that inspired Francis Scott Key to write the words for our national anthem. Today, the flag hangs in the main hall of the Museum of History and Technology at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

The flag is huge. When first made, it measured 30 by 42 feet. Today it measures 30 x 34 feet. The flag was damaged, either during battle or by souvenir hunters, and about eight feet of it was destroyed.

The Star Spangled Banner

This flag was flown at Fort McHenry at Baltimore, Maryland, during the War of 1812.

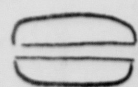

Just before the British attack, in 1814, a lawyer, Francis Scott Key, went aboard a British ship to arrange for the release of an American prisoner held there. The British agreed to let the prisoner go, but held Scott captive overnight. The American watched the attack on Fort McHenry during the night of September 13-14. Early the next morning, when Key saw the flag still flying, he wrote the first few lines of poetry about the attack.

What is the new rule in American League Baseball?

DEBHAM

Did you know that pitchers are usually very poor hitters? When they go to bat, they usually strike out. For example, Vida Blue, who won the 1971 Cy Young award for the outstanding pitcher in his league, had a batting average of .118 for that year. A star pinch hitter for his same team, the Oakland Athletics, Gonzalo Marquez, had a batting average of .438 last year.

The American League is doing something about this. They will try a new rule. This year, American League teams can use a pinch hitter, or a player who can bat in place of the pitcher. Under the old rules, the pitcher had to leave the game if he didn't bat. Under the new rules, the pitcher can stay in. The pinch hitter also runs for the pitcher, too.

The National League will not play under this rule this year.

> "Many Small Sums Make A Great One"

Although historians do not agree, many people believe that Betsy Ross, a flagmaker in Philadelphia during the Revolution, made our first flag.

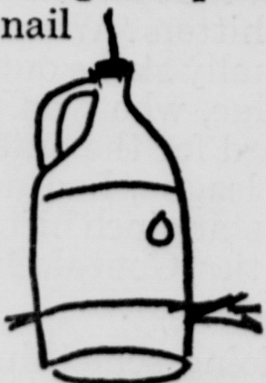

A Mini Page "How Do You Do?"

How do you make a bird house out of a plastic jug?

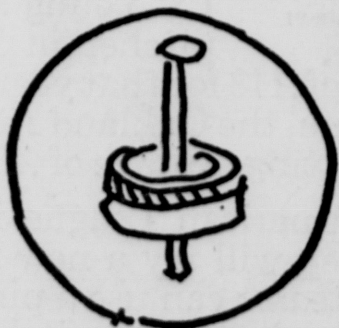

You'll need:

- a half gallon plastic jug
- a nail
- wire
- knife or scissors

To cut the hole, trace around a quarter. Then cut with a sharp knife or scissors. To make a perch, add a piece of twig stuck through the lower end.

Drive a nail through the jug cap and bend it over to form a loop. Attach wire and hang it from a tree.

You can make a bird feeder.

You can make a robin's house.

Our Story: A WEEK LATER, PRINCE ARN SAILS UP TO JARL HAAKON'S STRONGHOLD ON A VISIT HE HOPES WILL SOLVE THE PUZZLE OF LYDIA, A GIRL HE MET BUT ONCE.

HE MEETS HAAKON, AS TOUGH AN OLD VIKING AS EVER SAILED THE SEA. CERTAINLY NOT THE PERSON TO DISCUSS FAMILY AFFAIRS WITH A STRANGER.

BUT HE DOES DISCUSS HIS NEIGHBOR, KING GRIMNER, AND SHARES ARN'S BELIEF THAT HE IS TOO WEAK OR TOO AVARICIOUS TO HOLD BACK RAIDERS FROM THE INNER LANDS.

THEIR CONVERSATION IS INTERRUPTED BY THE ENTRANCE OF A LOVELY GIRL. "MY DAUGHTER, LYDIA," SAYS HAAKON BY WAY OF INTRODUCTION. HER DARK EYES ARE WIDE WITH SURPRISE.

THERE IS TENDERNESS IN HER SMILE AND THE WAY SHE TOUCHES HIS ARM..... THEN HER EYES FILL WITH TEARS AND SHE RUSHES FROM THE ROOM. "GIRLS!" GRUMBLES HAAKON, "THEY LAUGH ONE MINUTE, CRY THE NEXT. SHE MUST BE IN LOVE OR SOMETHING."

THIS IS THE SECOND TIME SHE HAS TURNED FROM HIM AND ARN IS GROWING IMPATIENT. WHY, HE WONDERS, IS HE TROUBLING HIMSELF ABOUT A GIRL WHO AVOIDS HIM.

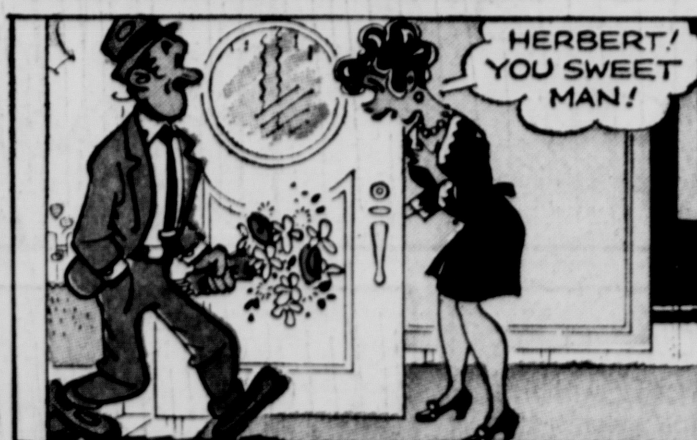

HE GOES DOWN TO HIS SHIP. GIRLS ARE BEWILDERING. HE WILL WAIT UNTIL HE KNOWS MORE ABOUT THEM. THEN HE HAPPENS TO LOOK BACK.....

.....LYDIA IS WATCHING HIM GO, A LOOK OF SORROW IN HER DARK EYES. HE FEELS AN IRRESISTIBLE URGE TO COMFORT HER. AND THIS TIME SHE DOES NOT RUN AWAY.
